SEACHANGE

Recognise this iconic jetty?

Home to the original Seachange TV Series, Barwon Heads is just 90 minutes from Melbourne on The Bellarine Peninsula.

A favourite haunt by the mysterious "Breathe Blue Ocean" sand artist, whose creations pop up in the early hours of the morning. He actually creates them in the dark, then disappears when the sun rises.

REVIEWS

SUITS THE HIGHEST NEEDS OF PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES.

Fantastic place. Great for people with disabilities.

My dad loved it, he had the chance to get out more often than he usually does because everything was wheelchair distance.

Everything was so comfortable and easy living. Will definitely be back.

It's been architecturally designed to accommodate wheelchairs, like me! It has really wide doorways, sliding doors, flat floors and lots of space! It even had a special room for the kids!

The bathrooms were wheelchair accessible and they even offered to leave special pieces of equipment there if we needed them. It was all in walking distance to the local cafes, bakery (and the water of course!). It was really amazing there!

Anyone visiting Melbourne, just spent an amazing few days at the most accessible accommodation in Barwon Heads !!!

Gorgeous, Ramps to go out to the patio, high beds, open shower, a number of accessibility aids – toilet seat, shower chair, hoist available but need your own sling.

Highly recommended And great for the family, lots of space and a fabulous fireplace and close to the beach !! We will go again in summer next time !

Just spent the most wonderful 5 nights at this fabulous home. Days were spent by the river (with the help of their beach wheelchair), frequenting some great cafes and eating outside at night on our covered deck. The house is totally accessible, super comfortable and has everything you could possibly want. Kerry and Grant went out of their way to welcome us and ensure we had a great stay. Will definitely be back!!
